CAUSES BIG DROP Chicago, Nov. 21—Bearish constructions placed on reports of a big drop in grain prices at Paris more than wiped out advances today in the corn market here. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's figures to 3sc higher, with December $1,293,421.30 and January $1.314,481.314, were followed by moderate further gains and then a setback to well below yesterday's finish.

Oats reflected the changes in corn. After opening unchanged to 4sc lower, with December 73%c, the market scored a little gain, but again underwent a sag. Provisions lacked aggressive support. The close was firm, 4821c net higher, with December $1.294,41.29% and January $1.324,41.324.

BEARISH CONSTRUCTION

STOCKS RALLY FROM

New York, Nov. 21.—Insignificant changes marked the early declines on the stock exchange today, advances and recessions being confined to small fractions except in the case of Maxwell Motors first preferred, which railled 1½ points from yesterday's severe decline. Other motors, also coppers and specialities, were inclined to ease under the slightest pressure. Leading industrials, including United States Steel and war equipments, moved within very narrow limits and rails were neglected.

Announcement of another fruitless meeting of international Mercantile Marine directors was accompanied by a break of 3% points in Marine Preferred to 1934, the lowest quotation for the current movement. Coppers fell 162 points, other leaders losing substantial fractions.

IN COTTON VALUES

New York, Nov. 21.—Reports that all restrictions on the shipment of cotton from the United States except to enemy countries and northern European neutrals had been removed were a factor in a further advance in the cotton market today. Buying was also encouraged by the census figures showing 8,681,005 bales ginned to Nov. 14, compared with 8,571,115 last year and 9,515,003 two years ago. First prices were 136230 points higher, and the market soon sold to 506252 points above last night's closing figures, with December selling at 28,55c and January at 27,57c. The market showed increasing firmness during the early afternoon on an improving trade demand and a broader buying movement from commission-house sources, January sold up to 28,25c and March to 27,78c, or 100% 102 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

New Orleans, Nov. 21.—Smaller glanding returns than expected in the census bureau report to Nov. 14 caused buying of cotton today, which in the first half-hour of business put prices 59 a76 points above yesterday's close.

The clearance of 23.065 bales of cotton from Calveston for England increased the denand. At noon prices were 62681 points up.

The official statement by the cotton exchange that there were on shipboard in New Orleans 57,081 bales of cotton awaiting clearance for foreign ports, against 15,264 a year ago, caused further buying. At 1 o'clock the advance amounted to 226/121 points.

There was enough realizing and scattered southern selling to cause reactions of 15 or 20 points, but the declines appeared to bring in some fresh buying as well as covering and the market was generally steady. December held around 28.46c, January 27.70c and March 27.20c
